

Dr Anuradha Chatterjee is Lecturer in Architecture at the University of South Australia. She is the founding editor of The Eighth Lamp: Ruskin Studies Today, a new online refereed journal. Dr Chatterjee's expertise is in the theoretical history of the architectural surface and she has been awarded the David Saunders Grant for undertaking a research project on this topic in relation to architectural practice in Australia.