

Greg Kucich is Professor of English at the University of Notre Dame. His recent publications include an edition of Leigh Hunt's periodical writings, co-edited with Jeff Cox, and a collection of essays, co-edited with Keith Hanley on Nineteenth-Century Worlds: Global Formations Past and Present. He is currently working on a book about the politics of women's historical writing during the romantic era. He co-hosted the last NASSR conference on "Transnational Romanticisms" at the University of Bologna. He is currently in the final stage of editing Nineteenth-Century Contexts: An Interdisciplinary Journal while he enters the initial phase of serving as Director of Notre Dame's study abroad program and research center in London.