Why work with us
Lancaster Health Hub has achieved excellent success since its conception in 2010:
Highlights include:
- Driving and coordinating a £1.7M successful NHS England Test Bed application, the Lancashire and Cumbria Innovation Alliance
- Working in close collaboration with over 300 clinicians in the region
- Developing more than 200 collaborative research and innovation projects between NHS, academia and business
- Shaping the vision and purpose of the University’s new Health Innovation Campus, with Phase One’s £41m development due for completion in 2019
- Over 20 NHS staff have been actively involved with the Health Hub’s work on Cochrane Systematic reviews including consultants, surgeons, GP’s, occupational therapists, physiotherapists, psychologists and health visitors
- Partnering in European funded programmes to facilitate SMEs working in health

Lancaster Health Innovation Campus
“...will trigger collaborations between the brightest minds in academia, business and healthcare and also draw in members of the public to help find solutions to some of the most urgent, health-related issues facing society. It will drive new innovations, new thinking, new approaches, new services and new products in healthcare, making a significant impact locally, nationally and internationally.” (Prof Neil Johnson, Dean, Faculty of Health and Medicine at Lancaster University).
