IEEE Open Access Article Submission Process for Authors

www.ieee.org/open-access

- IEEE offers 3 types of open access journals to publish in: Hybrid Journals, Fully Open Access Journals, or the IEEE Access Mega Journal
- Visit www.ieee.org/open-access to see the different types of open access publishing options and to see if your institution has an IEEE account
- Select your preferred open access journal
- Visit the journal home page in IEEE Xplore

NOTE: Open Access funding should be confirmed with Author’s institution or funding agency

Start your submission here

- From the selected journal homepage, click on Submit A manuscript
- On the Manuscript Central homepage, log in using your username and password
- Provide the required materials and choose to publish Open Access
- Fill out the form and upload an article for peer review
- Once submitted, you will receive confirmation and APC pricing information via e-mail

Choose your payment options

- Once your article has been approved for publication, you will be provided with payment options
- If you are affiliated with an institution, please select your institution and provide account information
- Once the affiliation confirms your association, the invoice will be deducted from the institution’s account
- Your article will be openly accessible once published in the IEEE Xplore digital library
