Jack Hylton’s arrangers in chronological order of when they first started working and recording with him (Rust, Brian and Forbes, Sandy, 1989. British dance bands on record, 1911 to 1945. Harrow: General Gramophone Publications). Most arrangers stayed with Hylton for several years.

Arrangers were often also instrumentalists in the band. Leo Vauchant, for example, also played trombone and Peter Yorke was the band’s pianist.
