Licence to Kill? The Organization of Military Destruction in the 21st Century

A Workshop sponsored by Organization

Monday, September 15th 2014

Venue: Lecture Theatre 2 – Lancaster University Management School

9.15: Coffee and Registration

9.45: Introduction to Workshop: Brian Bloomfield (Lancaster)

10.00: Session 1. Keynote: Siniša Malešević (University College Dublin)

‘The Organization of Military Violence in the 21st century’

11.00: Coffee

11.15: Session 2. Leo McCann (University of Manchester)

‘Management is the Gate’, But to Where? Rethinking Robert McNamara’s ‘Career Lessons’

12 noon: Session 3. Steffen Böhm (University of Essex)

‘Sustainability: Of Mass Destruction’

12.45: LUNCH

1.45: Session 4. Part 1: Laurence Hemming (Lancaster)

‘The Annihilation of Work – The Essence of Power’

2.15: Session 4. Part 2: Bogdan Costea and Kostas Amiridis (Lancaster)

‘War and Work in Ernst Jünger’s essay The Worker: Dominion and Form (1932)’

2.45: Coffee

3.15: Session 5. Lucy Suchman (Lancaster and Copenhagen)

‘Disciplining Destruction: Configuring the Other in training simulation’

4.00: Round-up. Brian Bloomfield, Gibson Burrell, Lucy Suchman, Theo Vurdubakis

4.30: Close