CONTENTS

Preface

Articles
Bill Clinton's "new partnership" anecdote: Toward a post-Cold War foreign policy rhetoric
Jason A. Edwards and Joseph M. Valenzano III

What statements do not state
Dmitry D. Pozhidaev

Presuppositions and strategic functions in Bush's 20/9/2001 speech: A critical discourse analysis
Bahaa-eddin M. Mazid

Media-ted political oratory following terrorist events: International political responses to the 2005 London bombing
Bernard McKenna and Neal Waddell

Investigating language and ideology: A presentation of the ideological square and transitivity in the editorials of three Kenyan newspapers
P.M. Matu and H.J. Lubbe

What does 'we' mean? National deixis in the media
Pille Petersoo

The political potential of multi-accentuality in the exhibition title 'gastarbajteri'
Martina Böse and Brigitta Busch

Discussion Articles
Reframing Moral Politics
Zev Bar-Lev

Negatives and positives in the language of politics: Attitudes towards authority in the British and Chinese press
Lily Chen
The Journal of Language and Politics represents a forum for analysing and discussing the various dimensions in the interplay of language and politics. The basic assumption is that the language of politics cannot be separated from the politics of language. The notion of ‘Political Discourse’ does not remain limited to the ‘institutional’ field of politics (e.g. parliamentary discourse, election campaigns, party programmes, speeches, etc.) but opens to all linguistic manifestations that may be considered to be political, provided that it is convincingly argued what makes them ‘political’. In order to illuminate new and old forms of political discourses inter- and transdisciplinary perspectives and elaborated linguistic methodologies have to complement each other. Articles bring together sociological concepts, political theories, and historical analysis. Methodologies can be qualitative or quantitative and are well grounded in linguistics or other relevant disciplines. They focus on different dimensions (pragmatics, semantics, social cognition, semiotics) of political discourse. Since political discourses overlap with other discourses, e.g. economic and scientific discourses, perspectives of interdiscursivity and intertextuality are considered to be important. Articles based on ethnographic studies are particularly welcome. Guidelines can be found on the inside back cover and on www.benjamins.com

Subscription to Volume 6 (2007), 3 issues, approx. 480 pages.

Institutions/Libraries/Companies Euro 271.00

Individuals may apply for a special subscription rate of EUR 80.00. Private subscriptions are for personal use only, and must be pre-paid and ordered directly from the publisher.

Your subscription includes postage and access to full text on line.

Subscriptions can be ordered through your subscription agent or directly from the publisher.

John Benjamins Publishing Company
P.O. Box 3624
1020 AE Amsterdam
The Netherlands

John Benjamins North America
P.O. Box 27319
1020 ME Amsterdam
Philadelphia, PA 19118
USA

Tel: +1 215 836 1204
Fax: +31 20 673 9773

http://www.benjamins.com — subscription@benjamins.nl

ISSN 1569–2159 © 2007 John Benjamins Publishing Company, Amsterdam, The Netherlands

Cover design: Françoise Berserk

Attention before copying:

In the USA: Authorization to photocopy items for internal or personal use is granted by John Benjamins Publishing Company, provided that the appropriate fee is paid directly to the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA. Fees are subject to change without notice.

In the rest of the world: Permission to photocopy must be obtained from the copyright owner: John Benjamins Publishing Company, P.O. Box 3624, 1020 ME Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

All views or conclusions are those of the authors of the articles and not necessarily those of the editorial staff or the publisher.

Guidelines for Contributors

1. Authors are invited to initially submit a draft of their contribution preferably via email to both editors.
2. Manuscript submissions should be accompanied by a biographical note (50–75 words), an abstract (100–150 words), key words, and the author(s) full name, address and email address.
3. Manuscripts may be submitted as email attachments if they do not contain unusual fonts. Otherwise two hard copies should be sent to both editorial addresses. Upon acceptance the author will be requested to submit the final version as email attachment or on disk, saved in a standard word processing format and in ASCII, and two hard copies of the text.
4. Papers should be reasonably divided into sections and, if necessary, subsections.
5. Contributions should be in English. Spelling should be either British or American English consistently throughout. If not written by a native speaker of English it is advisable to have the paper checked by a native speaker.
6. Line drawings (ink jets) and photographs (plates) should be submitted in camera-ready form or as TIF or EPS files accompanied by a hard copy. They should be numbered consecutively, with appropriate captions. Reference to any Figures or Plates should be made in the main text and their desired position should be indicated on the printout.
7. Tables should be numbered consecutively and provided with appropriate captions. They should be referred to in the main text and their desired position should be indicated on the printout.
8. Quotations should be given in double quotation marks. Quotations longer than 4 lines should be indented with a blank line above and below the quoted text.
9. Examples should be numbered with Arabic numerals in parentheses and set apart from the main body of the text with a blank line above and below. Examples from languages other than Modern English should appear in italics with a translation in single quotes immediately below each such example. If required, a word-by-word gloss (without quotes) may be provided between the example phrase and the translation.
10. Footnotes should be kept to a minimum. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the text in square brackets or superscript. They should be listed in a section ‘Notes’ following the main text. The notes should not contain reference material if this can be absorbed in the text and list of references.
11. References in the text should be as precise as possible, giving page references where necessary; for example: (Brinton 1996: 37). All references in the text should appear in the list of References.
12. The references should follow the Notes. References should be listed (1) alphabetically and (2) chronologically. Names of journals should be given in full with page references. Please pay special attention to the use of capitals, italics and punctuation marks given in the following examples:

Books

ARTICLE IN BOOK/JOURNAL

Authors are kindly requested to check their manuscripts very carefully before submission in order to avoid delays and extra costs at the proof stage. Page proofs will be sent to the (first) author by email in PDF format and must be corrected and returned within ten days of receipt. Any author’s alterations other than typographical corrections in the page proofs may be charged to the author at the publisher’s discretion.

Authors of main articles will receive a complimentary copy of the issue.

Manuscripts and all editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors:

Ruth Wodak, Lancaster University, Bowland College, Department of Linguistics and Modern English Language, Lancaster LA1 4YF, UK. E-mail: r.wodak@lancs.ac.uk

Paul Chilton, University of East Anglia, School of Lang., Ling. & Translation, Norwich NR4 7TJ, U. K. E-mail: P.A.chilton@uea.ac.uk