

Constructing Multilingual Europe? Micro and Macro Perspectives

Workshop at Sociolinguistics Symposium 17, Amsterdam

Friday, 04/04/2008, 10:30-15:15, Atrium 2

Organisers: Michal Krzyzanowski & Ruth Wodak, Lancaster University

Final Programme/Timetable

Part I (10:30 – 12:00) Chair: Ruth Wodak – Lancaster University

Welcome and Opening Remarks

Michal Krzyzanowski & Ruth Wodak, Lancaster University (5 minutes)

Negotiating Competing Linguistic Demands:

Multilingualism and Hybridity in a Romanian Migrant Community in Spain.

Clare Mar-Molinero & Dick Vigers, University of Southampton (15 minutes)

Is Class Relevant in Constructing a Multilingual Europe?

James Collins, SUNY, Albany & Stef Slembrouck, University of Gent (15 minutes)

'Real Turks', 'Pure Berbers' and 'Half Arabs':

Identity Scaling in a Dutch Multicultural Primary Classroom

Massimiliano Spotti, Tilburg University (15 minutes)

Discussion (10 min)

The Scottish Language Policy Gap:

Bottom-Up and Top-Down Discursive Constructions of Scots

JW Unger, Lancaster University/University of Vienna (15 minutes)

Representation in the Articulation of Language Policy Objectives

Patrick Stevenson & Jenny Carl, University of Southampton (15 minutes)

Discussion (10 min) and Lunch Break

Part II (13:45 – 15:15), Chair: Patrick Stevenson – University of Southampton

From 'Nationalistic Monolingualism' to 'Hegemonic Multilingualism'?

Media, Language Ideologies and the EU Enlargement

Michal Krzyzanowski and Ruth Wodak, Lancaster University (15 minutes)

Re-Constructing Multilingual Orientations in Central/Eastern Europe

Gabrielle Hogan-Brun, University of Bristol (15 minutes)

Indigenous Peoples Linguistic Rights and Practices in Multilingual Europe

Irène Bellier, LAIOS/CNRS-EHESS, Paris (15 minutes)

General Discussion and Closing (30 minutes)