

Francine Giese-Vögeli (University of Bern)

Born 1974 in Bern (Switzerland). Studies in art history, classical archaeology and near-eastern archaeology at the University of Bern. Research stays in Madrid (1999-2000) and Berlin (2001-2002). Since Oktober 2002 assistant at the Institute of Art History of the University of Bern (Departement of History of Architecture and Protection of Historical Monuments). Thesis about the islamic rib-vault (2003), PhD in May 2004 at the University of Bern. 2006-2009 postdoc project “Construct and conserve in al-Andalus” combined with a three years research stay in Madrid, funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation. Field of research: Islamic architecture, restoration theories of the 19th and 20th century, construction techniques and materials.