

Dr Stephen Kite is a Reader at the Welsh School of Architecture, Cardiff University, Wales, UK. His research – exploring the history and theory of architecture and its wider connections to visual culture - has been disseminated through key conferences, and published chapters and papers within a number of books and journals including: Architectural Research Quarterly, Art History, Ptah, Paideuma, The Journal of Architecture, Word and Image, The Journal of Oman Studies. Other publications include a study of the life and work of the architect of the British Library, London: Menin, S. and Kite, S. An Architecture of Invitation. Colin St John Wilson (Ashgate, 2005). Forthcoming in autumn 2008 is his Adrian Stokes – an architectonic eye (Legenda – Modern Humanities Research Association and Maney Publishing).