

Martin Seddon is a Freelance Media Producer working with photography, audio and video for a wide variety of purposes. Originally qualifying as a photographer, Martin has degrees in Environmental Management and Building Heritage & Conservation. He is currently a Doctoral Student with the Ruskin Centre at Lancaster University researching Ruskin's relationship with various media, but especially photography.