
Disclaimer: This document was written in 2000 and concerns memories of 1930s life; as such there may be opinions expressed or words used that do not meet today's norms and expectations.

* Transcript ID: HG-92-025PL006
* Scan ID: HG-92-025PL006
* CCINTB Document ID: 92-25-9
* Number of pages: 1
* Date sent: August 2000
* Transcribed by: Annette Kuhn/Standardised by: Annette Kuhn
* Format: Letter
* Details: from Helen Gilmour to Annette Kuhn
* Notes: This transcription has rendered the original text as written, including all spelling and grammatical errors.

REDACTED

REDACTED

Ayr, REDACTED

14th August, 2000

Your Ref. 92-25-4

M/s Annette Kuhn
Professor of Film Studies
Lancaster University
Institute of Cultural Research
Bowland Tower South
Alexandra Square
LANCASTER. LA1 4YT

Dear M/s Kuhn,

Thank you for your letter of 8th August regarding the screening at my father's cinemas of a double bill of "FRANKENSTEIN" and "DRACULA".

Both of these films were made around 1930/1931, the leading toles were taken by Boris Karloff in "Frankenstein" and Bela Lugosi in "Dracula". They were certainly Horror Films of their day.

I'm afraid I cannot give you the specific date of their showing but I reckon it must have been around 1939/1940.

I'm afraid these films are a bit "simple" compared with the "Horrors" of today. Bearing this out, my younger sister related an incident which might amuse you. She and her young son were watching "Frankenstein", the original version mentioned above, on Television some 25 years ago when her son was 8 years old. At the end she asked him for his reaction to what had been a real scarey experience for her at the same age. His reply was that he thought "Frankenstein" was really quite a nice chap – and he liked the screw in his neck!

Both of these films would have been Feature Films in larger circuit cinemas perhaps a few years earlier.

I am pleased to have been able to assist you again in your research. And in answer to your other question – I was born on [REDACTED], 1922.and have, so far, enjoyed good health.

With best wishes for your continued success.

Yours sincerely

(Miss) Helen Gilmour