

GUIDE

The tour, which will take up to an hour to complete, makes stops at the following locations.

Please note that you will need to pause the recording as you journey from one location to the next.

1. Glasgow Film Theatre, 12 Rose Street G3 6RB (aka Cosmo)
2. Regal, 326 Sauchiehall Street G2 3JA (aka Hippodrome, ABC, Cannon, MGM, O2 ABC)
3. La Scala, 157 Sauchiehall Street, Glasgow G2 3EW (aka Scala Film Centre)
4. Gaumont/Savoy 140 Sauchiehall Street G2 3DH
5. Green's Playhouse, 126 Renfield Street G2 3AL (aka Apollo Theatre)
6. Regent, 72 Renfield Street G2 1NQ (aka Cinema Picture House)
7. Odeon Glasgow, 56 Renfield Street G2 1NF (aka Paramount Theatre)
8. Cranston's Cinema de Luxe, 15 Renfield Street G2 5AH (aka Classic Glasgow)

This audio tour by Suzy Angus was commissioned as part of Cinema Memory and the Digital Archive, a three-year project funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council (2019-22), which sought to expand our knowledge and understanding of how audiences relate to and remember the experience of cinemagoing.

The project is based on materials gathered as part of an earlier project led by Annette Kuhn in the 1990s, including a substantial collection of interviews related to cinemagoing in Britain in the 1930s. For more information or to consult the project archive please see our website:

www.lancs.ac.uk/cmda

Supported by:

Glasgow Cinemas of the 1930s Audio Walking Tour

A walking tour around the sites of some of Glasgow's most popular cinemas in the 1930s, led by Professor Annette Kuhn and featuring interviews with cinemagoers from the period. This tour can either be followed on site or at home using the accompanying map (overleaf).

The map was created by Tom McGoran, a former projectionist who started out working as a spool boy in cinemas in Glasgow in the 1930s. You will also hear Tom's memories of Glasgow cinemas included in the walking tour.

Map and Illustrations: Thomas McGoran
Leaflet design: Jamie Terrill

CMDA

CINEMA MEMORY &
THE DIGITAL ARCHIVE

1930s! BRITAIN & BEYOND

SCAN ME

