Archive Catalogue: Introduction and Background

This archive catalogue is one of the outcomes of The Changing Face Project which documented the history of adult literacy, numeracy and ESOL between 1970 and 2002.

We hope it will be a useful resource for those working in or researching this field or anyone who is interested in how it started and how it has come to be the way it is today. Although we have analysed and written up some of the information we were given, we know there is much, much more that we have been unable to explore properly during the lifetime of the project. The catalogue, then, is more than just a set of lists. It is a flexible resource that summarises the information we know about, where and how to access it. We are pleased to be able to offer this catalogue to the field as a marker of what we managed to achieve in the Changing Faces project. We hope that other people will add to it and fill in the areas we have not done justice to.

What you will find in this catalogue is:

- A brief overview of the project, and how we collected the archive material
- Information about the oral history interview data collected by the project, where that is stored and how it can be accessed.
- Thematic lists of the documents we hold in the CF archive at Lancaster, prefaced by a short introduction to each theme, a location map and key showing the physical location of the material in the Lancaster University library archive.
- Information and links to other archives we have found out about and consulted during our work. Each archive is briefly described to give an idea about what kind of information it holds.

Making history is not just about dead people and faraway places and events. It is a living resource that we can all use to deepen our understanding of the present and to ground the crucial decisions that will be made in the future. We have found it fascinating to assemble this material and we hope you will feel some of the excitement we have experienced as you delve into the resources listed here. Let us know!!

Overview of the Changing Faces Project

The Changing Face Project took an historical look at policy and practice in the field of Adult literacy, Language and Numeracy (ALLN) between 1970 and 2002. By bringing together the perspectives of the main stakeholder groups on basic skills policy, the study aimed to identify the key issues and mechanisms that have driven change in the field. By assessing the relevance of the policies to the changing context of basic skills in everyday life, it makes a contribution to the effectiveness of future policy and practice in ALLN.

The main findings from the project are summarised in Hamilton, M., & Hillier, Y. (2006). The Changing Faces of Adult Literacy, Language and Numeracy: A Critical History Trentham Books.

Hamilton, M., & Hillier, Y. (2007). Deliberative policy analysis: Adult literacy assessment and the politics of change. Journal of Education Policy, 22(5), 573-594.

A major aim of the Changing Faces project was to create an historical archive containing both participants' accounts of their experiences during this period and the documents that were circulating at the time. We have carefully catalogued and stored all the materials we collected. Digital versions of the interview transcripts are stored in the UK national Data Archive and can be accessed at the UK Data Service

<https://discover.ukdataservice.ac.uk/catalogue/?sn=5473&type=Data%20catalogue>

The documentary archive is physically stored in the library at Lancaster University. The collection is listed in this document.

We hope that these archives will be a useful resource for those studying, or with a general interest, in literacy, numeracy and ESOL between 1970-2000.

The Interview Archive

This consists of digital versions of 116 semi structured recorded interviews carried out with practitioners and key people in the field of adult literacy numeracy and ESOL, plus 71 structured recorded interviews with adult learners using the NCDS data base held at the Institute of Education. This data is unpublished and consent/copyright permission has been granted

The Documentary Archive

Material for the documentary archive came from groups that we visited, requests at practitioner events and in newsletters as well as on these web pages. A number of individuals donated their personal collections to the archive.

Archive items include papers and documents from campaign groups, minutes from meetings, local and national policy initiatives and programmes, media campaigns; dissertations and theses that cover this area and histories that have been written about specific groups, organizations, policy or geographical areas. We have also collected examples of worksheets, schemes of work and teaching resources, photographs and other artefacts.

Key Themes in the Documentary Archive Collection

Policy Collection

Most items specifically catalogued as being Policy can be found in the box 'Policy and Special Topics, although other relevant items can also be found in Mary Hamilton's Personal Collection, and the National Agencies collection, as well as across the entire Changing Faces collection. The collection includes a range of original documents pertaining to the original Right to Read Campaign; key government reports (such as the Bullock report, Kingman, Crowther, Advisory Council for Adult Continuing Education (ACACE), Further Education Funding Council (FEFC), Moser and Skills for Life) and associated papers are included covering education in general, from primary through to adult education and lifelong learning across the whole period from the 1970s to 2000. Policy statements from a range of players related to the field are also included.

Special Topics covered include education for Women, for Disabled Students, for Ethnic Minorities and for Travellers.

National Agency Collection

National Agencies are represented in various ways throughout this collection. Material from agencies such as the Basic Skills Agency (BSA, formerly (ALRA) the Adult literacy Resources Agency and (ALBSU) the Adult Literacy and Basic Skills Unit; National Federation of Voluntary Literacy Schemes (NFVLS); Manpower Services Commission (MSC), Further Education Funding Council (FEFC), National Institute for Adult Continuing Education (NIACE) and so on can be searched by name and found throughout the entire Changing Faces collection. There are two boxes of material specifically from the Basic Skills Agency, including material from its early days under other names such as ALBSU and ALRA. Items include Annual Reports, information booklets and material promoting various literacy campaigns. There are a variety of books and reports detailing policy, research and development activities. There is a collection of the ALBSU newsletter from 1980 through to 1994, as well as a series of occasional papers published by ALBSU entitled 'Viewpoints'. Teaching and Learning materials produced by ALBSU can be searched under a variety of topic headings and do not appear in this list.

Two more boxes of National Agency material include documents such as a collection of the newsletter produced by Unemployment Unit and Youthaid, entitled 'Working Brief'. This reports on schemes such as the Training Opportunities Programme (TOPS) and provides statistics for employment rates and labour trends as well as policy analysis from the late 1980s to the year 2001. There are policy reports from government agencies such as the Further Education Unit (FEU) and reports from agencies such as NIACE and the Further Education Development Agency (FEDA). There is also a collection of Federation's magazine, produced by The Federation of Worker Writers and Community Publishers.

The Research and Practice in Adult Literacy group (RaPAL) has its own boxes, listed below.

Local (Regional and Organisational) Collection

The Changing Faces research project carried out interviews in four case sites: Norfolk, Manchester, Leicester and North East London, and as a result, there is a box of material gathered from our interviewees from each of these areas. These contain a range of items such as those mentioned in other categories, giving a local picture of specific interests in those areas. There is material from particular local organisations within the case site areas: for example – Abraham Moss Centre and Gatehouse Books (Manchester), Aylestone Adult Basic Education Scheme (Leicester), Stockport Youth Literacy (Stockport) and Centreprise (London) among others.

MERGED LOCATION LIST FOR DOCUMENTARY ARCHIVE

There are various other local organisations represented within the collection: Pecket Well College is stored separately as it is quite a large collection; the Friends Centre in Brighton, which has its own collection of material, including Annual Reports from the centre, newspaper articles, student writing and newsletters; campaigning video and other materials; Lancaster Adult College has donated a range of policy, assessment, student writing and other teaching and learning-related materials showing practices and developments over time.

The Pecket Well Collection

A committee of students set up Pecket Well College in Hebden Bridge in West Yorkshire in the 1980s, and it was the first independently run college to offer residential courses in basic education. The collection contains personal correspondence, minutes of meetings, newsletters and magazines produced by the group and in the college, photographs and audio tapes, annual reports and many other items of great interest, which document the funding and other problems that beset the group and its development, as well as its many achievements and successes. It is a fascinating historical document of a unique college. An oral history of the college can be found at <http://pecket.org/> The complete archive is housed elsewhere but we are privileged to have been given copies of many key documents. These items are stored in the Pecket Well box but see also Gillian Frost's personal collection.

Teaching and Learning Collection

The Teaching and Learning Collection is the largest collection within the archive, consisting of 11 boxes in all, but again, with items of interest across the whole collection. We have split this category into four self-explanatory sub-sections: Assessment, Curriculum, Training and Student Writing. There is one box of Assessment material consisting of assorted ALBSU handbooks, guidebooks for tutors, folders of entrance tests and reports from agencies such as National Council for Vocational Qualifications and the Open College Accreditation in Adult Basic Education Working Party, among others. There are two boxes of Curriculum material. These contain some material already covered in other sections, such as teaching resources for literacy, numeracy and ESOL. The Training collection contains training materials both for tutors and for students. The large Student Writing collection is separately detailed below.

Student Writing Collection

The collection houses four boxes of Student Writing, including poetry, issue-based writing, autobiography, fiction and student newsletters such as Write First Time and Not Written Off. Student Writing can also be found across the Changing Faces collection, in particular the Pecket Well Collection, as well within the local organisation collections, where organisations such as Gatehouse and Beauchamp Lodge are represented. Both projects specifically encouraged and published writing by students. Some items reviewing the methodology and purposes of student writing and publishing are also included such as the resource pack "Opening Time" along with information about the national student writing development project, carried out by Sue Gardner and culminating in the publication of a resource pack "Conversations with Strangers"

International Collection

Although the main purpose of this archive is to document ALNE in the UK, there are many items across the collection that focus on issues that have international importance. These can be found by searching for the key word 'international' across the catalogue. One of our specific international boxes (INT) contains research from other countries; for example, there is a lot of French Canadian research as well as reports focusing on specific areas, Scotland, and particular areas of Eastern and Western Europe. Our other international box (SI-INT-LIT) contains items of interest from the International Year of Literacy in 1990, such as minutes of meetings, newsletters and reports and other publications celebrating the year.

Media Collection

From the early 1970s the broadcasting media in the UK pioneered campaigning programmes related to adult literacy, language and numeracy. There are two specific Media boxes, but other items categorised as having a media interest can be found in the personal collections of Gillian Frost, Jean Brown, Mary Hamilton as well as in the Teaching and Learning collection. Specific media campaigns that have taken place throughout the period since the early 1970s are represented, such as On the Move, Write Now, Your Move, Parosi, Brookie Basics, and Get On!. Material from these campaigns include promotional material such as notepads and certificates, videos, tapes, handbooks as well as policy documents discussing the use of these schemes. Reports and research articles available in this category include such items as 'An outline of the contribution broadcasting might make to reducing adult literacy in the UK', and 'Adult learners, broadcasting and Channel 4', among others.

The Numeracy Collection

Items relating to numeracy can be found across the Changing Faces collection, for example in the Teaching and Learning collection and within the various local regional project collections. A further Numeracy box contains a personal collection of Teaching and Learning materials donated by Alison Tomlin. Items of interest include the teaching pack from the BBC campaign, Count Me In and the policy report 'Mathematics Counts: The Cockcroft Report' stored in the Policy collection. Most items can be found in one box, Numeracy. This includes items such as conference programmes, agendas, minutes, etc from the research forum Adults Learning Maths (ALM) as well as the ALM Newsletter. There is also a good collection of tutor resources such as workbooks and worksheets, newspaper articles about numeracy, and a good number of relevant reports.

ESOL Collection

We have three boxes of material donated to the archive by Jean Brown, who worked in the field of English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) in the Leicestershire area for over 20 years. Her personal collection contains material of interest from the whole of that period.

Jean Brown produced a wealth of her own teaching material, and there is a collection of fascinating resources grouped into various categories, for example, Food and Drink, Form Filling, Illness, Family Relationships. There is also a folder of material relating to teacher guidance for teaching the City and Guilds 9284 from the Leicestershire English Language Service. She has also donated official teaching material from agencies such as ALBSU, NATECLA, the Schools Council (SCOPE materials) and from BBC campaigns such as Parosi and Look, Listen and Speak.

A further collection of ESOL material, donated from various sources, includes such items as A Tutor's Guide to ESOL, Materials for Adult Learners, ALBSU tutor materials and research reports, dissertations about the English teaching scheme and volunteer home tutors and Asian Women Writing. Although not strictly speaking ESOL (but rather language variety) this collection also includes materials relating to Caribbean Language and Writing (both from the Manchester and ILEA development projects).

Workplace Collection

There are two Workplace Basic Skills boxes of material, as well as items of interest in the RaPAL Bulletin Collection, the ALBSU collection, and Mary Hamilton's personal collection. This material includes reports into workplace learning, from research groups, trade unions and government departments. It covers the somewhat sporadic developments in Workplace Basic Skills, including documents from landmark projects such as the early ILTU run by the Manpower Services Commission; WORKBASE the National Union of Public Employees (NUPE) funded basic skills project, TUBE, the Manchester based workplace project; reports on the ALBSU workplace pilot schemes; the FORD EDAP scheme and the Workplace Basic Skills Network. There is a collection of material produced by UNISON containing publications such as guides to qualifications like NVQs and SVQs, and various reports, such as 'Return to Learn: UNISON's fresh approach to trade union education'. The Trades Union Congress (TUC) also produced similar guides to qualifications, as well as information booklets such as 'Leaders in Learning: Four Union Initiatives helping members access learning'. Government publications include information booklets such as those promoting the Investors in People scheme, as well as booklets such as 'Basic Skills are Union Business', a collaboration between The Basic Skills Agency and the TUC.

Research and Practice in Adult Literacy (RaPAL) Collection

One box contains information about the history of RaPAL, minutes of meetings, original proofs of issues of the bulletin, documents associated with conferences and other events organised by the group. A further box contains archive Issues 01-50 of the RaPAL bulletin.

Personal Collections

Personal Collections Gillian Frost (a range of materials from her work in Manchester, London and Pecket Well College)/ Jean Brown (pioneering ESOL and home tutoring materials); Mary Hamilton (variety, especially policy, media and student writing)/ Yvonne Hillier (variety, especially policy and FE); Diana Coben (variety, especially policy and numeracy); Alison Tomlin (Numeracy Teaching and Learning materials); Sue Gardner (a carefully selected range of materials across different stages of Sue's career from Liverpool to London, key documents pertaining to student writing development); Jenny Stevens and Cathy Moorhouse (mainly media related, especially BBC and on The Move campaign)

Lancaster University Library

Also holds many relevant journals including Adult Education; Studies in the Education of Adults; Adults Learning, The RaPAL Bulletin 1985-; Journal of Further and Higher Education; Journal of Education and Work; Vocational Training. It has an extensive collection of documents related to government social and educational policy. There are also many relevant theses and dissertations produced over the years by Lancaster graduates.

Archive Links

LOCATION MAP: How Documents are organised in the archive

NOTES:

Documents are stored alphabetically by author for books and research reports, then chronologically.

All other materials are stored chronologically within categories.

NATIONAL Agencies have priority over donors and case study areas, but not for the Teaching and Learning materials they produce, which are stored under T&L.

Regional Case study areas have priority over local organizational case studies (ie. if a local organization is located within one of the case study regions, then it is stored under LOC-CSREG

All local government documents are under LOC-(GOV) except those for NE London Boroughs, Leicestershire, East Anglia and Greater Manchester which are stored under the appropriate LOC-CSREG

MEDIA category has priority over all other categories except for personal collections (e.g. Jenny Stevens, Jean Brown).

SPECIAL TOPICS are prioritised over all other categories except for regional case study areas and personal collections.

Short Title: Dilemmas of anti-racist work in adult / community education: A case study

Abstract: A study of anti-racist work in an Adult/Community Education setting. By looking at the experience of a particular group of education workers concerned to work in an anti-racist way, the research highlights some of the problems and dilemmas encountered and seeks to assess the contribution made to the group.

Notes: The archive contains photocopied extracts from this thesis, rather than the full published document, which has been returned to the author.
