Welcome

Welcome back to Lancaster if you are graduating with us today and a warm welcome to all your guests, families and friends.

It is always a great pleasure for me, your academic and college community and all the staff of the University to be part of these celebrations with you as you move from student to alumnus.

I hope your graduation will be amongst those moments in life that you will never forget – a chance to celebrate and enjoy the results of the hard work you have put in, your commitment and determination.

It is also a special day to share with your family and friends and provides an opportunity to acknowledge their support in getting you to this point. I am sure they are as proud of your achievements as we all are.

You are part of a university that is recognised by employers as one of the best in the UK. You may also know that out of around 120 UK universities, Lancaster ranks top 10 in The Complete University Guide 2026, 11th in the Guardian University Guide 2025 and 12 in the Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide 2025. We also rank highly in international league tables such as the QS World Rankings.

Many of the teaching staff you know are also leading researchers in their field and Lancaster is distinctive among UK universities in being highly regarded for both teaching and research. As well as preparing our students for the next important steps in their lives, our academics are helping us adapt to a rapidly changing future in so many different areas, including forging advances to help us meet the challenges of sustainable agriculture and food, secure energy supplies, global health and cyber security.

Our mission to develop and shape skilled and creative graduates like you spreads far beyond the boundaries of our Bailrigg campus. Lancaster has a network of overseas partnerships in China, Germany, Ghana, Malaysia and Indonesia.

You belong to our global community which now makes up one third of our overall student population. Our staff and students are currently drawn from over one hundred countries, and our alumni live and work in virtually every part of the world.

You are an important part of that Lancaster community and wherever your future endeavours take you, I wish you the best of luck. Do keep in touch – our thriving alumni network offers many opportunities to stay involved.

I hope you and your guests thoroughly enjoy your day – you truly deserve it.

Vice-Chancellor

Awards

The Lancaster Award

The Lancaster Award recognises and celebrates the important range of extracurricular activities completed by students and the major contribution these activities make to their future employability. It is a voluntary commitment and is additional to their academic studies.

To achieve the award students must participate in a wide range of activities alongside their degree including employability workshops, campus and community development and work experience.

With the support of the Careers and Employability team, the skills they develop are recorded and presented in a skills bank, CV and video interview. This process provides invaluable experience for future job applications, ensuring graduates have the ability to articulate their skills to potential employers.

Over 1,200 students are now registered for the award and over 200 students have successfully completed the award over the past year.

Students who have attained the Lancaster Award are denoted in the programme with ♦

The Chancellor's Medal

The Chancellor's Medal was established in 2004 to mark HRH Princess Alexandra's 40 years of service as the University's founding Chancellor. A small number of medals are presented each year to the most meritorious students of the University.

Honorary Graduates

Each year, Lancaster University awards honorary degrees to people with an outstanding international, or leading national reputation in their field.

Professor Susan Gathercole

Susan Gathercole is a cognitive psychologist interested in how working memory and other cognitive processes impact on children's educational achievements and the ways in which these constraints can be overcome. She advocates understanding neurodiversity in terms of individual characteristics rather than classification into rigid diagnostic categories. Susan started this work as a lecturer in Psychology at Lancaster University in 1988 and subsequently held professorial positions at universities of Bristol, Durham, York and Cambridge, where she is Emeritus Professor. Susan is a Fellow of the British Academy and in 2016 was awarded an OBE for services to psychology and education.

Professor Graham Hitch

Graham Hitch was born in Luton and went to Dunstable Grammar School. He obtained a BA in Natural Sciences at the University of Cambridge and an MSc in Experimental Psychology at the University of Sussex. After a PhD at the Medical Research Council Applied Psychology Unit, his postdoctoral research with Alan Baddeley saw publication of their model of human working memory. He went on to a lectureship in Psychology at the University of Manchester followed by a chair at Lancaster University, during which time the British Psychological Society gave him the Cognitive Psychology Award together with Neil Burgess for their neural network model of working memory. His last move was to the University of York where he was given the BPS President's Award for his contribution to Psychology.

Muyiwa Oki

Muyiwa Oki is President of the Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA) from 2023-25 and a senior Architect at Mace. Muyiwa was elected following a campaign which included pledges to promote more flexible routes into the profession, increase transparency, dial up efforts to improve diversity, and embrace digital culture.

As an Architect at Mace, Muyiwa is focused on technology, innovation, modern methods of construction. Throughout his career, Muyiwa has worked on large-scale infrastructure projects - including Qiddiya, HS2 Euston and the North London Heat and Power Project - and projects with public estate clients that have a strategic mission to revitalise cities. Muyiwa is an ambassador, speaker and mentor for aspiring architects via programmes such as Mayor of London Design Challenge, Scale Rule, and POC in Architecture which exists to encourage greater social mobility within the profession.

Pauline Neville-Jones DCMG

Pauline Neville-Jones is a Conservative member of the House of Lords, sitting on the Science and Technology Committee. She began work in the Diplomatic Service serving, among other places, in Washington and the European Commission. She negotiated parts of the German Unification agreements and was the British negotiator of the Dayton Agreement on Bosnia.

Subsequently, as Chairman, prepared the technology company, QinetiQ, for IPO. She designed the National Security Council and served as Minister for Security and Counterterrorism. She is active in cyber security. She has been a BBC Governor, and a member of the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council. She is a Dame Commander of the Order of St Michael and St George, a Privy Councillor and a Chevalier of the Legion d'Honneur.

Alumni Awards

Alumni Awards are presented to Lancaster graduates who have made a substantial contribution to their field.

Geoff Barton CBE

BA Hons English, Pendle, 1984

Geoff Barton is a leading educationalist and former general secretary of the Association of School and College Leaders (ASCL), the principal professional association and trade union for all school, college and trust leaders, with over 24,000 members. After professional training in Leicester, Geoff went on to teach in schools in Leeds, York and Suffolk, latterly for 15 years as headteacher at King Edward VI School in Bury St Edmunds. During a distinguished career, Geoff became a 'go to' for media comment on the schools and colleges sector and a prominent figure in dealings with government. He is a Founding Fellow of the English Association, patron of the English & Media Centre and has authored numerous influential articles for a variety of leading titles, including the Guardian and Times Education Supplement.

Philip Long OBE

BA Hons Visual Arts, Pendle, 1987

Philip Long is a highly respected and award-winning leader in museums, heritage and design history. Currently the Chief Executive of the National Trust for Scotland, he was the founding Director of the V&A Dundee, established in 2011 with a mission to enrich people's lives through understanding of the designed world and its heritage. Prior to this he was Senior Curator at the Scottish National Gallery of Modern Art. He has been widely published on historic and contemporary Scottish, and wider British art and design, including works on Charles Rennie Mackintosh and the Scottish Colourists, and he co-edited The Story of Scottish Design, the first comprehensive history of Scotland's design heritage. A Fellow of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, he received an OBE in 2020 for services to Culture and Heritage.

Jacqueline Bowen

BA Hons Theatre Studies & English Literature, Grizedale, 2007

Jacqueline Bowen is an inspirational teacher who has dedicated her career to championing and improving education outcomes for children in some of the most challenging settings. Leaving Lancaster, she was accepted onto the Teach First programme and placed in an inner-city school in Manchester, where she became Head of English. Her transformational approach drove an almost three-fold improvement in attainment, from 23% to 62%, an achievement which led to a national teaching award and a special reference in Parliament. She repeated this success in her next assignment before being appointed as one of the youngest head teachers in the UK. Her methods of teaching have been replicated across the north, from Blackpool to Grimsby, and have led directly to higher education successes for many of the pupils in her care.

Lancaster University would also like to acknowledge those donors who choose to support our students anonymously.

Power in numbers

Lancaster University receives over £3m in philanthropic donations each year from over 1,700 donors, offering an extra dimension to the things our staff and students can achieve.

We would also like to say a huge thank you to all our donors to the Lancaster University Opportunity Fund, Lancaster's flagship fundraising programme. Thanks to this support, we can continue to provide opportunities for students from all walks of life, through the provision of scholarships, outreach work, hardship funding and wellbeing support.

When students find themselves on the precipice of staying in university or dropping out due to circumstances out of their control, the support systems in place through this fund can be the lifeline that these students need to help them stay on course and successfully complete the university education that they set out to achieve.

Thank you for helping to transform the lives of our students through the power of philanthropy.

If you would like to know more about giving opportunities to Lancaster University please get in touch at friends@lancaster.ac.uk or visit us online at www.lancaster.ac.uk/giving

"I fully believe that finishing in the top decile by exam grade, meaning I will now graduate with honours as a result, would not have been possible without the Mature Student Scholarship. I hope in the future I can contribute towards a scholarship for others and pay forward the awards that I have received."

Recipient of the Undergraduate Mature Student Fund

"I am finding incredible kindness in the most unexpected moments during my time at Lancaster University. The people here are changing me for the better, helping me discover the person I want to become. Your gift continues on through me and my experiences, holding much more than just its monetary value."

Recipient of the Heatherlea Bursary

"My scholarship has helped me a great deal. Above all, it enabled me to come to Lancaster and study for my Master's in person. This has been so important for me, especially given the uncertain economic conditions in my home country, which makes it harder for international students to go abroad to study. The scholarship has played a huge part in my journey to Lancaster University, and I am immensely grateful to have been chosen."

Recipient of the Gian Fulgoni Scholarship
