Welcome benvenuto・欢 迎 bienvenidos/as bienvenue・Willkommen!

The School of Global Affairs here at Lancaster offers innovative degree programmes informed by impactful research. You'll be part of a School that thinks globally and promotes an interdisciplinary mindset. Our engagement with external organisations creates a thriving culture of exchange, skills development and opportunities to enhance your employability.

We are proud to be ranked in the top 100 in the QS World University Rankings by Subject 2024 for Modern Languages as well as achieving strong positions in the UK league tables.

Here at Lancaster, we offer very flexible programmes, both within our School and in collaboration with 14 other subjects across the University. You can study a wide range of degree schemes in French, German, and Spanish from beginners and advanced levels, and Chinese and Italian from beginners level. This variety provides a lively and dynamic environment for study. During your time with us, you'll enjoy a unique and enriching experience.

We support your journey towards a future career in sectors such as teaching, interpreting, translation and project management, humanities and interdisciplinary research, business innovation and community engagement. That's in addition to careers in marketing and e-commerce, technologies and media, event planning, NHS consultancy, auditing, accountancy and insurance, financial and banking services, and HR and international affairs. We love keeping in touch with our graduates and have an active alumni network on LinkedIn.

Our relative size means we are small enough to offer close, productive contact between students and staff. This environment encourages good working relationships which continue beyond our students' undergraduate degrees into their professional lives. This in turn supports our engagement with local schools and companies and also with a wide variety of creative practitioners that we regularly invite to engage with our students. Our innovative, research-led teaching and internationally recognised research deliver an exciting and intellectually challenging synthesis of both high-level language skills and wide-ranging cultural studies, which are both comparative and transnational. Our researchers have made contributions to Lancaster's successes in the latest research excellence framework (REF2021), reflecting our interdisciplinary strengths and collaborations.

We're proud to be at the top of the 2024 and 2025 UK rankings for research quality: 1st for German and 2nd for Italian (Complete University Guide 2025); 2nd for French and Iberian Languages (The Times Good University Guide 2024). Chinese language teaching is expertly provided through our award-winning Confucius Institute. Our modules are also popular with visiting students from across the world, enhancing the international flavour of life in the School.

I am proud of our School and the work we do. We look forward to discussing with you how the degree scheme you are interested in will foster your own personal ambitions, language learning and cross-cultural understanding.

Dr Derek Hird Head of School

Languages at Lancaster

Top 100 worldwide

Our research and reputation are recognised internationally. The latest QS World Subject Rankings (2024) places Lancaster 72nd in the world for Modern Languages.

Global outlook

Whatever you study with us, your degree will be international in scope. Our teaching programme considers the global dimensions of the languages and cultures that we teach.

Supportive language learning

We offer languages at both beginners and advanced levels with flexible language and nonlanguage combinations. By the end of your degree, you will have achieved a high level of language skills as benchmarked against international standards - the Common European Framework Reference (CEFR) or Chinese HSK.

in the UK for French, German, Italian and Spanish Complete University Guide 2025

Flexibility

Our degrees offer flexibility with your International Placement Year enabling you to study at a partner institution, conduct a work placement, teach with the British Council, or a combination of these.

Great for careers

We prepare you for your future career throughout your degree with offers such as the Year 2 module Professional Contexts for Modern Languages. This includes the opportunity to explore language-related professional contexts and to join a work placement.

We have a dedicated Employability Champion, plus a wealth of resources and global networks.

Will I study at advanced or beginners level?

Beginners level is suitable for those with a GCSE (or equivalent), or complete beginners. Our teaching programme rapidly progresses you beyond GCSE level.

Advanced level is for those who have an A level (or equivalent) in the language.

If you are interested in a multiple language degree, it is only possible to study one of the languages from beginners level. This is due to the extra workload involved in the beginners modules to bring you up to a high level quickly.

Which languages can I study at which level?

French, German and Spanish may all be studied from advanced and beginners level and will take you to C1/C2 level of the Common European Frame of Reference (CEFR) by the end of the final year.

Chinese and Italian may be studied from beginners level only.

Chinese at beginners level can be studied as part of a joint degree with another subject (language or non-language). It will bring you up to level HSK 5-6.

Italian at beginners level can be studied as a minor subject only. It will bring you up to B2 level of the CEFR.

Alternative entry requirements

We welcome applications from students with a range of alternative UK and international qualifications. Further guidance can be found on our website.

Teaching and assessment

Your studies

You will maintain a strong focus on core language learning throughout your degree. You will also study the culture and geographic area where they speak your chosen language/s, as well as their relationships with the wider world.

Learning methods

You will learn through a combination of interactive lectures, workshops, language lab sessions, seminars and independent study conducted either individually or in groups. Your learning is enhanced by teaching and assessment through our online education platform Moodle and the use of other interactive digital tools. Our language classes are typically small enough for staff and students to get to know each other well and develop a strong sense of community. We support students studying on the beginners (intensive) route by providing additional contact hours during your first two years of study.

Assessment

As a guide, most of our degrees have a 40% exam, 60% coursework assessment pattern. Our tutors return constructive feedback/feedforward comments for assessments. We aim to return all coursework within four working weeks, helping you to improve in your future work.

Facilities

Our Language Resource Centre provides a space to read the news, watch international TV and borrow foreign language films as a way to improve your language learning and immerse yourself in the language and culture of other countries and societies. We also provide you with the use of language labs, self-access materials, virtual learning environments and online resources to help you to develop your own autonomous learning strategies.

Guest lecturers

We regularly invite guests to teach on our degree programmes. This allows you to engage with language professionals and brings real-world experience into the academic environment. Some examples of recent guest lecturers include:

- + Bill Swainson, publisher and editor, delivered workshops on publishing and editing literary translations, offered careers guidance and oneto-one translation surgeries for students.
- + Mithu Sanyal discussed her book Identitti in a hybrid workshop with students where she explored with them aspects of language, identity and decolonialisation, and 'cancel culture' on campus.
- + Sophie Lewis, Visiting Translator in Residence (French and Portuguese), worked with students on literary translation and offered guidance on careers in translation and publishing, while working on her translation of Leila Slimani's latest novel.
- Benoît Peeters, Visiting Professor in Graphic Fiction, worked with second and final-year students on translating comics.
- + Acclaimed Ukranian-born poet and translator Yevgeniy Breyger, Visiting Writer-in-Residence (German), ran translation workshops with students and conducted a reading from his poetry and translation of TS Eliot's The Waste Land.
- + Journalist Jan Rocha gave a talk about the work of the ecumenical group CLAMOR in South America on tracing 'disappeared' individuals in the Southern Cone with Sue Branford from the Latin America Bureau (LAB).
- + Mexico-based journalist John Gibler gave a talk about the work of investigative journalists who become targets of violence because of their work.

Degree structure

Our distinctive approach to undergraduate language degrees gives you the opportunity to acquire both high-level language skills and a thorough understanding of languages, cultures and societies within a global context.

Year 1

Year 2

Year 3

International Placement Year: intercultural and academic reflection

You can study at a partner university, conduct a work placement, teach with the British Council, or a combination of these. Assessment is by means of partner university marks, a project gathering up observations on a contemporary aspect of the country you have lived in and/or a report on the placement you undertook.

The focus of the International Placement Year is on embracing and expanding language proficiency and cultural understanding in preparation for your final year.

MLang degree structure

The MLang degree is a selective and accelerated four-year BA with integrated MA. It allows you to go abroad in your second year and finish your BA in your third year, ready for Masters level work in your final year. You may study either one or two advanced level languages, with a choice between French, German, and Spanish.

Year 1

You will study core language studies, alongside optional modules, as for other degrees in the School. In addition, you will take the non-credit bearing 'International Placement Year Preparation' module that helps to prepare you for all aspects of spending a year abroad including administrative, academic, financial and welfare support matters.

Year 2

MLang International Placement Year

MLang International Placement Year Project

You will select a mix of language and culture modules at a partner university in Rennes (France), Córdoba (Spain), or Trier (Germany). It is compulsory to spend your year studying, rather than on work placement on this degree scheme. You may spend your year abroad at one or two partner universities, depending on whether you are studying one or two languages. You will write a project in the target language on a topic researched in the host country.

Year 3

Returning to Lancaster for your third year, you will join final year Bachelor degree students in core language classes. You will also study comparative and specialist culture modules and write your BA dissertation (a dissertation is compulsory for all ML ang students).

Final Year

Masters Dissertation	+	Research Skills for Modern Linguists	+	Optional modules
You will write a 20,000 word Masters level dissertation on a topic of your choice, with guidance from a supervisor. You will consult a range of primary and secondary sources and demonstrate critical evaluation of primary sources and their secondary literature.		You will learn research skills specific to modern languages to support you in researching and writing your dissertation. Topics include: beginning research; the academic research process; mapping a research project; abstract writing; resource evaluation; research paper attendance; working with theory; advanced presentation techniques. The module culminates in a Postgraduate Conference.		 Reading Theoretically Academic and Professional Methods in Translation Introduction to Liaison Interpreting Independent Study Unit Or another appropriate Masters module within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. The module options may vary from year to year.

Your international placement year

Spending a year abroad is an integral and assessed part of all our language degrees. We offer flexibility to split your time abroad between different activities.

You can choose to study courses taught in your target language at one of our partner universities. For MLang students, studying abroad is compulsory.

Lancaster University's current partner institutions for languages degrees are:

- + Bordeaux
- + Lyon 3 (Université Jean Moulin)
- + Université d'Orléans
- + Rennes 2 Haute-Bretagne
- + Ecole de Traduction et d'Interprétation (ETI), Geneva
- + Ruprecht-Karls-Universität Heidelberg
- + Universität Siegen
- + Universität Trier
- + Universität Zürich
- + Karl-Franzens Universität Graz
- + Universidad Austral Argentina
- + Universidad de Córdoba
- + Universidad de Deusto (Bilbao)
- + Universidad de Granada
- + Universitat Internacional de Catalunya (Barcelona)
- + Universidad Pontificia de Salamanca (UPSA) If you are studying Chinese, during your International Placement Year you will be able to study or undertake a work placement in a Chinese language environment. Current partners are:

- + Beijing Foreign Studies University 北京外国语大学
- + Shanghai International Studies University 上海外 国语大学
- + National Tsing Hua University 國立清華大學

You may wish to spend your International Placement Year on a work placement for a company or as a Language Assistant for the British Council (see right). This adds invaluable work experience to your academic skills. We will support you in identifying opportunities and securing internships as part of the second year 'Preparation for International Placement Year' module.

Here are some examples of where our students have undertaken placements previously:

French work placements

- + Brand Project Assistant, Nomen Communication Agency, France
- + Business Development Intern, Maupard Fiduciaire, France
- + Event Coordinator, MJC Annonay, France
- + International Recruitment Assistant, FERRANDI Paris, France
- Intern, Église Protestante Évangélique de Bruxelles, Woluwe Saint-Lambert, Brussels, Belgium
- + Website Coordinator and Client Liaison, Roomlala, France

German work placements

- + Social Media and Editing Internship, MMC Sport, Munich, Germany
- + Transport Market Internship, LKW WALTER Internationale Transportorganisation AG, Wiener Neudorf, Austria
- + Teacher and Translator, AREVA GmbH, Erlangen, Germany
- International Relations Office Internship, BOKU, University of Natural Resources and Life Sciences, Vienna, Austria

Spanish work placements

- + Internship, British Chamber of Commerce in Madrid, Marbella and Barcelona, Spain
- + Culture and Language Facilitator, CII Teach Argentina, Argentina
- + Marketing Intelligence Internship, Underwriters Laboratories Ibérica, Barcelona, Spain
- + Internship for CAMeNA (Centro Académico para la Memoria de Nuestra América), Universidad Autónoma de la Ciudad de México, Mexico
- + Drama and English Classroom Assistant, SEK International Schools, Catalunya, Spain

For students studying two languages, we do not have set rules about your choice of destinations. Students taking three languages are required to spend their International Placement Year in at least two language-specific environments. Beginners level students will normally spend some or all of their year in the country of their beginners level language.

You may apply to spend your International Placement Year working as a Language Assistant with the British Council. This role involves supporting the teaching of English in a school or university, planning activities and producing resources to help students improve their English as well as introducing UK contemporary culture through classroom and extra-curricular activities. You may also support the running of international projects and activities.

Wiktoria's placement experience

On my International Placement Year (IPY), I lived both in China, in Xi'an, and in Peru, in Lima. The IPY allowed me to gain worthwhile work experiences as well as valuable life lessons. It is especially important to emphasise that the IPY is not only about our placements. It's about exploring, meeting local people, visiting new places, trying new things that we wouldn't have the opportunity to learn in a lecture or seminar or on vacation. There is no doubt that the IPY was the most exciting, challenging and insightful year of my life.

Meet our staff

Cyrille Rollet

Cyrille is a Senior Teaching Associate in French. He is passionate about languages and has co-written a book on French verbs. He is in charge of our Language Resource Centre and is very much involved in the French community in the region. Cyrille organises trips abroad for students and regular social events to support language learning (lunch clubs, international karaoke nights and the international café).

Dr Cornelia Gräbner

Cornelia is Senior Lecturer in Hispanic Studies and Comparative Literature. Cornelia researches how social and political transformations relate to poetic and imaginative languages and practices, and to critical thinking.

Her research is comparative between different cultural areas across the world, and feeds directly into her teaching, including her current module Social Movements and Committed Writing in Mexico since 1968.

She collaborated with the Independent Expert on Albinism and the Witchcraft and Human Rights Information Network to table a Resolution recognising these abuses as harmful practices at the UN Human Rights Council in 2021.

Your life at Lancaster

Societies

Our students take part in a very wide range of student societies, including the Language Society, and other clubs connected to sport, travel and language.

Language lunch clubs

We host informal social lunches and brunches so you can practise your conversational language skills. Our communal social space is perfect for catching up with friends, sharing some food and finding out the latest news.

Placements and volunteering

We encourage you to gain work experience and offer a variety of work placements in industry and education while at Lancaster and during your International Placement Year. You can opt to take our work-based learning module (Professional Contexts for Modern Languages) in the second year. On this module, you will undertake a languagerelated work experience placement. You'll consider the linguistic and cross-cultural skills you develop in the role and enhance your employability.

We work collaboratively with Lancaster University Students' Union to provide opportunities for you to volunteer in local schools as a classroom assistant or reading buddy. There are also roles on campus such as organising activity days for school groups.

The Lancaster Award

You can participate in the Lancaster Award, which rewards you for taking part in extra-curricular activities. This certificate enhances your future employment prospects by encouraging you to engage in college activities, careers workshops, work experience and volunteering. The new skills and experiences developed through these endeavours are recognised and valued by employers.

Your future career

We have an Employability Champion who advises students on their strengths and possible future careers. Employability resources and job ads are uploaded and constantly updated on our web platform. We also have active Alumni Facebook and LinkedIn groups to stay in touch and continue to promote opportunities once you have graduated. Within the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, there are specialist careers advisors and opportunities to apply for paid internships to help you gain experience and prepare for your future career.

Workplace skills

Apart from language- and subject-related skills, a degree in languages develops rich interpersonal, intercultural, cognitive and transferable skills that can be utilised across a variety of careers. In both our work-based learning module in the second year and on the International Placement Year, you will reflect academically on key issues in relation to your placement organisation.

Careers-related events

We hold 'Careers with Languages' events where you can meet major employers who recruit graduates with language skills. The School also hosts an event called 'Languages - A Route to a World of Careers'. Recent graduate Rosie (BA Hons French and Psychology), who worked both for a translation firm in Paris and for an estate agent in Tahiti during her International Placement Year, returned to campus to talk about her current role as a Digital Graduate for BGL Group. She explained what firms are looking for in job candidates and gave valuable advice on the set of skills needed to succeed. Such events are a great opportunity to gain awareness of how to stand out from the crowd in the graduate market. Other events focus on the demands of the current job market. These include welcoming alumni to share insights about their careers in a 'languages and employability panel', video interview techniques workshop, CV workshop, and training in translation software.

Future careers

Our graduates find employment across a wide range of language-related and non-languagerelated sectors, often internationally. Recent graduates from Lancaster have gone into the following categories of employment as well as further study:

+ Marketing and Communications

- + General Management
- + Operations
- + Corporate Banking
- + E-learning Consultancy
- + Academic Lecturer
- + Customer Service
- + Civil Service

Cathy Castling,
TranslationStudying languages gave me the chance to start my own business abroad. I loved studying in Spain and Germany during my international placement year and I knew that I wanted to move abroad after graduating. The opportunity to interact with the language and culture in each country, as well as develop my own skills, gave me the confidence
I needed to achieve this and start my own translation

Jamie Gamble, Business Development Team Lead Former student in BA Hons Management Studies and European Languages (German) Studying languages alongside Management allowed me to apply my business knowledge and skills to a Germanspeaking marketing role during my year abroad. I had the opportunity to rebuild the organisation's solutions portfolio, assist with webinars and marketing events, undertake French and German translations and even conduct interviews for new interns. After my degree, I took a role as a Business Development Representative in Berlin and I am now developing the business base in London.

school made my experience truly fantastic.
