Criminology at Lancaster University is taught in the Law School, providing you with an excellent interdisciplinary place to study.

Our degrees offer you a broad learning experience. World leading, research-active academics will introduce you to key themes and topics in Criminology and help you to engage with recent and influential research. You will be offered the opportunity to analyse the social, cultural, political and economic contexts of crime and criminal justice; taking an in-depth look at the social circumstances of offending, policies regulating crime, and the social response to criminal activity.

The Law School has strong international links and we welcome students from across the world to study with us. We also offer vacation travel opportunities for our students, further diversifying the learning experience we offer.

During your time with us we aim to prepare you for your future career. We offer one to one careers support and access to a wide range of future career pathways.

We hope that you decide that Criminology at Lancaster is the degree for you and if you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact our Criminology team.

Dr Catherine Easton
Head of Lancaster University Law School
Criminology
at Lancaster

We have strong links with criminal justice and third sector organisations, including Lancashire Constabulary, HMP Lancaster Farms and the Lancashire Youth Offending Team, HMP Kirkham, meaning our students can access work, volunteering, and research opportunities.

You will be taught by academics conducting world leading, impactful research, on topics like cybercrime, domestic abuse, and drugs/substance misuse; this research informs their teaching and your learning.

Dr Nicola Harding
Lecturer in Criminology

Dr Nicola Harding researches the contribution of lived experiences to crime, deviance, and social control. Nicola acts as a subject matter expert with We Fight Fraud to combat fraud and financial crime, where she has contributed to white papers that have informed government policy.

Nicola brings her research focus into her module 'Living Criminology'. In this module, individuals who have been involved in crime and experienced punishment talk directly with students about their experiences. Separately Nicola and the students then analyse their narratives and apply criminological theories to their testimony in order to understand how they became involved in criminal behaviour and why they stopped.

Professor Majid Yar
Chair of Criminology

Professor Majid Yar has been a leading contributor to the study of cybercrime for many years. His research has examined a wide range of online crime issues, including digital piracy, computer hacking, and abuse and harassment on social media. He has been called upon to inform and advise government bodies, businesses, as well as the wider public through contributions to the media. He has also made notable contributions to the development of criminological and social theory, and the study of crime in popular culture. His expertise is reflected in his teaching contributions to a number of modules, currently including Cybercrime and Cybercriminality.
Studying Criminology and Psychology has been an absolute joy. This incredible interdisciplinary course has given me the opportunity to develop critical academic skills, as well as research interests that I am passionate about. While my psychology modules gave me a strong foundation in statistical analysis, scientific writing, and research methods, it was my criminology modules that shaped my academic drive and perspective. Being encouraged to challenge the core definitions of crime and deviancy taught me how to assess social phenomenon critically, whilst also acquiring the proper outlook to carry out research at a higher level. I am most grateful for the amazing staff, who have been so patient, supportive, and inspiring throughout my time at Lancaster. Without their insight and expertise, I would not have been able to conduct my dissertation research on drug policies in Oregon, US, which I thoroughly enjoyed.

Grace’s degree

Studying Criminology at Lancaster is one of the best decisions I ever made. From the beginning of the course, the support I have received from staff has been amazing and I can’t thank them enough. The variety of topics that the degree offers has really helped to shape my interests for the future, and I look forward to new lectures every week! Workshops are so helpful to solidify information learnt, and also a great place to meet friends.

Degree Structure

BA (Hons) Criminology

Year 1

Introduction to Criminology and Criminal Justice

You will examine criminological perspectives (such as biological, sociological and psychological explanations for offending behaviour) and contemporary criminological issues (such as domestic abuse, cybercrime, and substance misuse). You will also explore the structure and functions of the criminal justice system, including looking at the roles of the police, prisons and the probation service.

Minor Subject 1 + Minor Subject 2

You will be able to choose modules from a choice of subjects that are complementary to your major subject and are recommended by your Department. After you apply for your degree we will confirm which optional modules are available and how to register for your preferred options.

Year 2

Criminological Thought

Introduces and examines the main theoretical approaches in criminology from its origins to the present day.

Measuring Crime: Understanding Crime Data and Trends

Helps you build a critical and practical understanding of crime data, predominantly using sources that influence criminal justice policy and practice. You will aim to develop highly valuable skills in data handling and analysis.

Understanding Criminological Fieldwork

An introduction to the theoretical foundations and processes of different forms of social research used in criminological research, including interviews and observations.

Optional Modules

Select up to four optional Criminology modules from the list on page 09.

Year 3

Optional Modules

Select up to eight optional Criminology modules from the list on page 10.

Modules

On all our degree programmes, you will be able to choose some optional modules. These develop your Criminology knowledge and allow you to focus in depth on topics that interest you most.

Year 2

These are some examples of second-year Criminology modules. Please note modules may vary each year.

Contemporary Issues in Policing

Provides a critical analysis of the nature, culture, and structure of police forces in the UK. We will explore issues such as use of force, use of stop and search and policing protest.

Organised Crime

Critically analyses the concept of ‘organised crime’ and how it is used to describe particular groups and activities; examines various types of organised crime and the wider social, political and economic factors that shape them; and assesses the methods and challenges of policing transnational organised crime.

Youth Justice

Considers the tension between perceptions of children as ‘troubled’ and ‘troublesome’. Also explores the criminal justice response to children who are in conflict with the law.

Human Rights and Civil Liberties

Gain a comprehensive grounding in the law of human rights, examining the right to life, freedom from torture, freedom of expression, and capital punishment.

Contemporary Crime Problems

Explores the historical, socio-economic and cultural contexts of contemporary crime ‘problems’ and analyses the process of criminalisation and criminal justice responses.

Modules

Year 3

These are some examples of third-year Criminology modules. Please note modules may vary each year.

Sex Crimes and Sexual Offending

Introduces you to a range of sexual crimes and forms of sexual offending as defined by UK and international law.

Crime and Media

Provides a critical examination of the complex interactions between the media and crime. Topics explored include moral panics, representations of youth crime, revenge pornography and cybercrime.

Criminal Careers

Aims to deepen your understanding of why some offenders appear to choose a life of crime.

Drugs, Crime and Society

Examines the nature and extent of drug taking in the UK and beyond. Topics explored include illegal drug use, trafficking and manufacture.

Hate Crime

Focuses on the question of what is 'hate crime', working towards gaining an understanding of its harms. The international perspective to this module will be drawn from a discussion of 'hate crime' as a human rights problem, with a particular focus on freedom of speech.

Other Year 3 module options include

+ Mass Atrocities and War Crimes
+ Prisons, Punishment and Society
+ Crimes of Power
+ Crime-related Research Based Dissertation

Develop your professional experience

Placements and internships are great ways to gain work experience, make professional contacts and help you decide your career path. A wide range of opportunities are available, and some (such as placement modules) provide credit towards your degree. Placement and internship roles are not guaranteed, however we will help you prepare for the competitive application process. Voluntary activities are another excellent way to build work experience and make a positive impact on the world around you.

Placement Year

You can take a placement year with the majority of our degrees. This involves spending Year 3 working in a graduate-level, paid, professional role in a sector of your choice. You then return to Lancaster in Year 4 to complete your studies and a reflective portfolio about your experience.

A placement year degree offers a boost to your employment prospects. It allows you to work in a field that either complements your academic studies, or branches out in a new direction. Most sectors offer placement year positions, and we support you in the competitive application process. We help you in securing a placement through personalised coaching and support during Year 2.

Paid Internships

As a student with us, you can apply to the Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences (FASS) Internship Scheme that offers exclusive opportunities that are ring-fenced for students in the Faculty. A myriad of paid, sector-specific internships are available each year in the summer vacation and part-time during term time. Just to give you a taster, some of the past employers include Carnegie Publishing, Lancaster Arts, More Music, The Dukes Theatre, Comma Press, Deco Publique, Crowberry Consulting, Fairfield Association, Active Lancashire and National Trust.

Psychology Employability Programme

BA (Hons) Criminology and Psychology students have access to this programme, which provides volunteering opportunities relevant to careers in Psychology, including research assistant placements across the Psychology Department research labs.

Partner organisations include:
- Age UK
- The National Autistic Society
- Making Spaces
- Shelter

The Lancaster Award

The Lancaster Award rewards you for taking part in extra-curricular activities outside your academic studies that supplement the excellent education you receive at Lancaster University. Developed in partnership with employers, the certificate aims to reward you for making the most of your time at Lancaster, and could enhance your future job prospects by encouraging you to build skills valued by employers. You will undertake a variety of activities and reflect on the skills you have developed.

Your future career

We emphasise careers from the very beginning of your degree, a factor that contributes to the success of our graduates in the workplace.

Department Support
We recognise the importance of gaining career advice and enhancing your employability throughout your degree. We therefore offer career and employability support in various ways:

Academic Advisors
You will be assigned an academic advisor in your first year, who will act as your first point of contact and support for careers advice.

Subject-specific Guidance
The Criminology team have two dedicated members of staff who are available to offer you careers advice and guidance.

Networking Opportunities
We organise a number of talks on employability throughout the academic year where you will hear from people in key roles in organisations that may be of interest to you after you graduate. These include talks from third sector, public sector and those working in the field of criminal justice.

University Skills and Employability Workshops
The Careers Service runs workshops throughout the year focussing on the development of skills in areas such as leadership and communication to prepare you for the world of work.

Career Mentoring Programme
Our Career Mentoring Programme aims to match you with a mentor who is an established professional in your career of choice; this mentor then gives advice and guidance in relation to your future career. Mentoring could help you assess your career goals and get you thinking in different ways about how you can reach them. It’s a uniquely tailored experience that you shouldn’t miss.

Careers
Our graduates go on to be successful in a variety of careers:
- The Police
- Working in the legal system
- Probation Service
- Central and local government (e.g. The Home Office)
- Social Welfare and Education (e.g. charities and support services for young offenders)

Kate Kaliski-Wiseman
Probation Officer, Her Majesty’s Prison and Probation Service (HMPPS)
BA (Hons) Criminology, graduated 2017

I thoroughly enjoyed my time studying Criminology at Lancaster. The range of modules that I was able to study was excellent, and provided me with the opportunity to understand many different and varied aspects of criminology.

Some of the theories I have learned have helped me to develop and understand certain policies in my current role.

Becky Reeve
Civil Service Fast Stream
BA (Hons) Criminology, graduated 2019

Studying Criminology at Lancaster stood me in really good stead to get a role on the Civil Service Fast Stream programme. I was encouraged to secure a job at Lancaster Prison and as a Law School ambassador where I gained valuable experience and confidence. I’m now half way through the three-year fast stream programme, which consists of three, 12-month rotations.

My first posting was at HMRC in Manchester, I was part of a great team working on a multimillion-pound technology procurement. I’m now with the Met Police’s Online Child Sexual Abuse and Exploitation Unit where I’ve spent six months working on one of their largest scale online paedophilic operations to date.

During my time as the Unit’s ‘Improvements Manager’ I’ve looked into aspects of their operations, including their referral and review processes for reports of indecent images/videos of children circulating online, and how we deal with the welfare of the individuals we arrest.

I’ve really enjoyed being able to tap back into the knowledge from my degree.
