You are introduced to some key topics in more detail in years 2 and 3, which are necessary to study philosophical traditions of philosophy, including epistemology, free will, and critical thinking.

One great advantage of studying PPE at Lancaster is that we offer a flexible, modular degree programme. This means that you can choose your own combination of modules and topics, allowing you to focus your studies on areas that interest you.

In your final year, you will return to Lancaster and your Politics modules.

Optional modules

- Applied Philosophy
- Finance and Philosophy
- Financial Risk
- Financial Penal Law
- International Relations
- Logic and Language
- Philosophy and Psychosocial Analysis
- Philosophy of the Human Sciences
- Political Index
- Social and Political Philosophy of the Early Modern World
- State and Economy: Between the Market and Sustainability
- Women and Philosophy in the Modern World
- Values and Objectivity
- The Politics and Philosophy of Nineteenth Century Philosophy
- Philosophers on Religion
- Philosophical Questions in Modern Political Thought:
- Nineteenth Century Philosophy
- Modern Political Thought: Between the Market and Sustainability
- Philosophers on Religion
- Philosophical Questions in Modern Political Thought:
- Nineteenth Century Philosophy
- Modern Political Thought: Between the Market and Sustainability
- Philosophy of Science
- Baffling Ballots: Voters, Capitalism and Politics
- Sports Economics
- Public Policy Analysis
- Monetary Macroeconomics
- Industrial Organisation
- Health Economics
Develop your professional experience

Your future career

Studying Philosophy, Politics and Economics at Lancaster gives you the skills you need to understand the world around you. Develop your critical thinking, analytical and research skills, and you’ll be able to explore the issues and questions that interest you.

Lancaster University has an excellent reputation for the quality of its undergraduate teaching, and you’ll have an opportunity to gain valuable work experience as part of your degree. If you proceed to postgraduate study, Lancaster is renowned for its high-quality teaching and research in social, political and economic issues.

For more information on specific modules and the opportunities they offer, please see our website: www.lancaster.ac.uk/ppe

Important information

The information in this publication relates primarily to 2024–25 and is correct at the time of printing (June 2023). The University will use all reasonable effort to deliver the courses as advertised, but reserves the right to make changes. The information is correct at the time of printing (June 2023) but may need to be amended in future years.

Entry requirements: AAB with GCSE Mathematics Grade B or 6, English Language Grade C or 4, or equivalents.

For information on other entry qualifications, such as BTECs and International Baccalaureate, as well as fees, scholarships and any additional costs you might need to consider, please see our website: www.lancaster.ac.uk/compliance/legalnotice

To minimise the disruption to your studies, you are advised to refer to the information you were sent before you submit your application. More information may be found at: www.lancaster.ac.uk/terms

© Lancaster University – PPE Leaflet 2024.

For graduate employment, and for graduates who return to Lancaster to complete your degree in a professional, paid work placement in Year 3 and continue to postgraduate study.

For more information on specific modules and the opportunities they offer, please see our website: www.lancaster.ac.uk/ppe

Get in touch

Department of Politics, Philosophy and Religion
Lancaster University
University Park
Lancaster LA1 4YL, United Kingdom
Lanercost@lancs.ac.uk www.lancaster.ac.uk_contrac_at:
www.lancaster.ac.uk/ppe

© Lancaster University – PPE Leaflet 2024.

For information on other entry qualifications, such as BTECs and International Baccalaureate, as well as fees, scholarships and any additional costs you might need to consider, please see our website: www.lancaster.ac.uk/compliance/legalnotice

To minimise the disruption to your studies, you are advised to refer to the information you were sent before you submit your application. More information may be found at: www.lancaster.ac.uk/terms

© Lancaster University – PPE Leaflet 2024.