Your degree

The first year is a foundation for your studies and explores a range of theoretical and practical approaches. In year 2 you will choose to focus within Drama, Theatre and Performance or a related discipline. You can choose from a range of modules, including auditor, practical, seminar and lecture sessions. In addition to these, you will have the opportunity to participate in extra-curricular activities, such as visiting speakers and trips to theatre and art venues. You will also have the opportunity to present your major performance projects, which will lead to a public performance in the Nuffield Theatre.

First Year Options

You will choose at least six modules from a range of options that will give you a broad theoretical and practical understanding of theatre, including performance and composition, and the opportunity to develop your skills in the area of your choice. You will also have the opportunity to participate in extra-curricular activities, such as visiting speakers and trips to theatre and art venues. You will also have the opportunity to present your major performance projects, which will lead to a public performance in the Nuffield Theatre.

Theatre Practice

You will be introduced to a variety of theatre and performance practices, including historical and cultural approaches, as well as contemporary and postmodern styles. You will learn about innovative ways creative practitioners produce and present their work, and how to contribute to the development of new forms of performance. You will learn about the history and development of theatre and performance, and how to apply this knowledge to your work as a theatre practitioner. You will also learn about the techniques and methods used in theatre and performance, and how to apply this knowledge to your work as a theatre practitioner.

Creative Enterprise module

You will learn about a range of business models and how they can be applied to the performing arts. You will learn about the different approaches to entrepreneurship, and how to apply this knowledge to your work as a theatre practitioner. You will also learn about the techniques and methods used in theatre and performance, and how to apply this knowledge to your work as a theatre practitioner.

Year 3

The 3rd year is a chance to explore your area of specialisation, developing an independent, critical and creative voice. You can choose to focus within Drama, Theatre and Performance or a related discipline. You will complete an independent project at the end of your 3rd year, which will be assessed as an independent study and will contribute to the overall mark for your degree.

Subject Focuses

You can choose to focus on one or more of the following options, which will complement your major studies or their other subject.

- Performing Texts
- Theatre for Social Change
-  Performing Theatre
- Devised Theatre

Further Options

You can also choose from optional modules that are not related to your major studies or their other subject. You can choose to focus on one or more of the following options, which will complement your major studies or their other subject.

- Contemporary Performance and Design
- Contemporary Arts Theory
- Critical Reflections

Visiting speakers and trips

You will have the opportunity to participate in extra-curricular activities, such as visiting speakers and trips to theatre and art venues. You will also have the opportunity to present your major performance projects, which will lead to a public performance in the Nuffield Theatre.

Ciara’s career

Ciara’s career includes a number of roles in the performing arts industry, particularly in the areas of production and performance. She has worked for companies such as the Nuffield Theatre and also at a local theatre school which opened her eyes to the many possibilities that exist within performing arts. She has also worked as a performer and producer, and has been involved in a number of projects, including the StartUp Awards. She is now at a point in her career where she is looking to own multiple performance venues and to lead her own company.
